The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:

He leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me: Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil: my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

LORD, make me an instrument of Your peace. Where there is hatred, let me sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; and where there is sadness, joy.

O, DIVINE MASTER, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console; to be understood as to understand; to be loved as to love; for it is in giving that we receive; it is in pardoning that we are pardoned; and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

Dear Lorna: Thanks ever so much for getting me that info on the cause of death on the Davis'. I had no idea. I was asked to make one out for my mother and dad's family when it dawned on me, I knew very little about Davis'. So thanks again.

I got your note today explaining the items on the list. I had figured that out. But what really floored me, was your note about the Hernia in the family. Especially for the first born son. As you know, David was first, and only son. The weird part of it is, is that he has had two Hernia surgeries. Now that is something of a strange coincidence. or something in the genes. I'll bet on the genes.

Talked to June the other day. Her kids had a birthday party for her, Real nice, just her kids, me and June's boyfriend. He is a really nice guy. Not too healthy, but he is someone to go places with. He has had a heart attack. and is on dylisis (how do you spell it), you know what I mean, the kidney thing. Anyway, June is doing pretty good since her last back surgery. She is so alone out there in the country, of course, the kids come over but still she is alone most of the time. Don't blame her for finding a boyfriend.

Glad to hear you and Ken are doing okay. That surely was a nice picture you sent of the family. Thanks for that. I've been doing shots in my back for a pinched nerve but it really isn't helping a whole lot, still hurts like heck, and makes me walk with a cane.

It's raining again tonight - supposed to have severe thunder storms, and maybe a tornado or two. Guess one was sighted near Chesaning, which is not far from Flushing where Pat and Roger live. They are going thru the empty nest syndrome, as both boys live away from home. Chris was married last June, and he and his wife are now expecting this fall. He is a CPA and works for some big company, they live near Chicago. She teaches there. Andy, the oldest, bought a house in Ann Arbor, and of course has a live in girl friend. He works down there too.

Laura's girls are out of the home too. Just Jim, the adopted boy, is home with her.Poor Jim, he has his problems. and can't adjust to life. Maybe some day he will. Her oldest daughter, Anne, has her Engineering Degree and is working for Whirlpool in St. Joseph, MI. Mary is going to school out in Oregon. She wants to be an Environmental Lawyer so she opted to go to school out there.

Dave is still in North Carolina. He and his wife, Maura, are both RN's now and work in the hospital there. The oldest boy, Nick, likes to cook and is working in some big restaurant there. Joe and Eric are both going to College to get their CPA's. So they, Dave and Maura are empty nesters too.

Guess I better quit. Guess I have filled you in on the kids and grandkids. Oh yes, Laura is still teaching school, Kay and Pat are both working in Libraries, and Carol is in Social Work here in Mt. Pleasant.

There. Now I've finished. Nice hearing from you. And thanks again.

Love, Edna

Dear Lorna,

Thanks for your informative letter about the relation.

I knew, or thought I knew, a little about the Inwoods, but I didn't know exactly what was Herbert's problem. I knew Aunt Ethel was always being "shushed" by Uncle Frank if he was around when she would get to rambling and I thought that was strange. I never got inside her house; we visited usually on a nice day and walked around outside to see the flowers, etc. (As far as I can remember). Jeannette seemed always to be an apple short of a bushel, but who was I to say. She seemed intelligent enough, just marched to a different drummer. Ila & Lela were fine.

As to Aunt Fay. Glenn always said she was an alcoholic and different - liked men. I thought he meant a prostitute - but again I never met the woman, and I wouldn't know one if I saw one. Then there's Uncle Earl - he certainly heard a different drummer but he seemed to be a good man and smart enough. Bob & Glenn always said they wanted to live like he did. Back in the woods, and have no worries or cares. It was a great dream. But they knew better. I know Earl was a Davis, not a Girod; and also only a half-brother of Rolla, but I had to mention it. Aunt Elsie let him get away with it.

I didn't know any of the others, only to meet them occasionly(?) in VanWert on a Saturday night, and again at a Reunion once in a while. I wish I had made more of an effort but I was too busy with the children to notice.

As far as Leopold Girod, what I read in the Legal Papers and Affidavits, was that "he was unable to work". I sort of figured it was a physical handicap, like a bad back, or something like that. Maybe some sort of injury in the hard life they led. Who knows, unless the Death Certificate would say.

What did the McClure's do in the Colonies? I never heard about that. Also, my Carol, tells a tale someone told her about one of the relatives fighting in North or South Carolina with (I think) Harry Lee, and doing all kinds of things. Anything to that? I'd like to know. In the swamps, they would dash out and fight somebody & then dash back in and hide. Sounds fascinating.

I'm having surgery on my wrist tomorrow, Monday, for "Carpal tunnel Syndrome". If my writing is funny (strange) that's why. I'll really ache tonight after writing this but I wanted to get it down.

Miriam & Paul David and their respective spouses were up last week. They wanted to see Glenn, and also to go to the Casino to gamble a little. We have a great Chippewa Indian Casino just East of town, and its lots of fun to go out. I take $10.00 and go a couple times a year. Never won much but usually come out even. And have a good time in the process. But that's the secret - only take so much money with you. So you can't lose more than you can afford.

Frieda came out ahead I believe, & Miriam & the others probably lost a little. But not a lot.

Glenn didn't know them but he enjoyed seeing them. He had to have Cataract Surgery a month ago and can see better now. His other eye needs the surgery too, but we'll wait a while. He's much better natured now he can see better.

We had a nice Easter. Went over to Kay's in Grand Rapids. It was a beautiful day, as is today. Yesterday was quite windy & cold. I have some Crocuses out, and the daffodils are coming.

I have a Bird Feeder too - and all the birds you mentioned. Also, a squirrel. I have a pair of Cardinals that have been coming for at least five years. They are so pretty. I also have 2 cats living next door that do their darndest to catch the birds & once in a while get a young one.

That's enough for now!
